Instructions: A Back To School Practice Buck is a piano studio reward that can be used to “purchase” little trinkets from a studio store.

A Back To School Practice Buck has the days of the week listed on one side. At home, your student must practice daily and then have a parent initial beside the corresponding day on the Back To School Practice Buck.

If each day has been initialed when your student returns to lessons the following week, the student keeps the Back To School Practice Buck in a binder (a ziplock baggie does the trick!). As the money grows each week, your student can choose to use the Back To School Practice Bucks to purchase little treats from your studio store.
